Press Release: Austria- Strange how two old enemies are now my allies and my two old enemies are now my friends!

Question Corner: In an incorrect statement by Buddy Tretick on the 7th. of November 1968, Buddy Tretick states that a dislodged support does not count. He was of course very-very wrong.

In a letter dated 25 November 1968 Edl Birsan asks whether a dislodged support counts. Yes, it does Edl!

The rulebook states "If a unit ordered to support in a given province is attacked from a different province the unit disregards its order to support, and defends its own position." In other words a support order is only nullified from the side. A support can not be cut by an attack from the point to which the support is directed.

I note here that La Guerre new revised rules received here on the 25th. of November agree to this position. (See B.B.#10 in issues 75,78.)
